

This is the philosophy of the uniquely-human life, of the fully-human life, of the divine – the adoration of your self that is Splendor.

This is everything you have always known could and should be possible to human beings, but which you have never dared to hope to find in your own life. This is ontologically-consonant teleology expressed in three simple words: